Summary of the rules of Allia Ltd

Members' rights

All our members have a right to:

- attend the Annual General Meeting, and any other general meetings called by the society
- vote in elections to appoint board members, and on resolutions presented at general meetings (including postal ballots)
- stand for election as a board member
- a copy of the annual report and accounts
- a copy of the rules of the society
- a share certificate
- access the register of members
- withdraw their share capital within the terms and conditions determined by the society.

Membership terms

- Shares are nominal £1
- The minimum holding for ordinary members is £10 and the maximum is £20,000
- Members must be over the age of 16
- Shares may be held jointly by up to 4 members
- All new members must be approved by the Directors
- Members have one vote irrespective of holdings
- If you have less than the minimum shareholding then your membership ceases
- Members can apply to withdraw shares in full or part with 6 months' notice in writing
- The right to withdraw may by resolution of the Directors be suspended either wholly or partially and either indefinitely or for a fixed period
- The Directors have the power, following receipt of an accountant's certificate that liabilities exceed assets, to reduce the value of a member's shares by the cancellation of shares
- All profits and property are applied to the promotion of the objects of the society and no dividends will be paid to members.

The small print

Investment in Allia Ltd is made in the share capital of a charitable society for the benefit of the community. It is a withdrawable social risk capital investment. The right to withdraw may by resolution of the directors be suspended either wholly or partially and either indefinitely or for a fixed period. If Allia Ltd fails, you may not have all, or any, of your investment returned to you. Allia Ltd is not a member of any financial compensation scheme and is not subject to prudential supervision by the Financial Services Authority. In assisting Allia Ltd financially you may want to consult your Accountant, Tax Adviser or Investment Advisor as the details mentioned may not address all aspects of UK tax law that might be relevant to each supporter in the light of their particular circumstances. The shares of Allia Ltd are not a controlled or specified investment under the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000. Allia Ltd is exempt from The Public Offer of Securities Regulations 1995 under exemptions 7(2)(q)(iii).
